Mayor Takes A Walk on the West Side

Mayor Susan Solomon understands that Sedona's economic future depends on the success of its businesses. Much attention has been paid to the Uptown and Highway 179 businesses during the recent months, so beginning Thursday, February 2 and on various Thursday mornings over the next five months, the Mayor will be taking a walk on the west side of Sedona, and drop in on the businesses.

She hopes to have an opportunity to answer questions, exchange ideas, hear concerns, or simply say hello and thank the business owners and their customers for their contributions to the Sedona economy.

Also along for the walk will be the City's new Economic Planner, Jodie Filardo.

So, the next time a shop door opens on a Thursday in West Sedona, don't be surprised to see the Mayor walking through the door.
